FOR PRESIDENT, HORATIO SEYMOUR. Character to the company

> FOR VICE PRESIDENT, GEN. FRANK P. BLAIR.

An estimable gentleman of our town recently visited the Northern States and returned with the conviction that the sentiment of that region is unfriendly toward us. The result of the elections recently held there establishes the truth that the majority of the people there do really regard us as enemies. Then there is to be no voluntary national feeling between the two sections. These people do demand our continued punishment. We must and shall be alienated from those exalted functions which cause a people to love their country. Domination and coercion are to be their privileges, and submission our virtue. History must record the fact that nothing short of our lands and our tives will appease those to whom we have surrendered. Under their prolonged oppression they will soon possess our homes, for they are being rapidly. though indirectly, confiscated. How long will it yet be until A. T. Stewart can purchase every rood of South Carolina's fertile soil? It is easy to talk of exile, but it has never been successfully carried out by an oppressed people. few of our people who have possessed means and intellectual distinction have undertaken it, and one by one they have returned to tell that Americans cannot live beyond America. The only remedy that we can conceive, is for the Southern States to abstain from any aggressive attitude in the readjustment of the States which should have followed the surrender, but is yet unaccomplished. Have we maintained our dignity in going to the rescue of the Northern Democracy instead of awaiting our rescue at their sylvania, 10,000, Ohio 15,000, Indiana hands? THE past folly of Southern leaders and the recent folly of Northern Demoerats have almost assured the triumph of Gen. Grant. The election of Seymour is yet possible, but the present divided policy and confessed dismay of his teading friends certainly render that result improbable. The success of the Radical party has been assured by their own shrewdness and our own stupidity. Our people have clamored for participation in the process of reconstruction, when, if they had remained decently and dignifiedly passive, the magnanimous portion of the Northern people could have effected our restoration to the Union. Our enemies, to secure their success, conceded something to public sentiment. They cast overboard Butler, Sumner, Wade, Sheridan, and nominated Grant, on whom, but for his betraval of the President, the country could have united. If elected, he will have a clear field if he chose His only pledges are in his letter of acceptance, which was evidently worded indorses the resolutions" of the Chiengo convention, but says not one word ground he has the power and the opportunity to satisfy the country and restore the Republic; and it behaves the Southern people to withdraw from every semblance of aggressive participation | in the readjustment of our lost power, and quietly await a result they have no power otherwise to control to their own advantage. quanity and quality of Milk than any other possible Churn. It is also simple and strong in construc-ion and not liable to get out of repair.
